

Gravity Sucks!

Good Thing for Jared, So Does the Harmony System

Jared is a prosthetic technician, double amputee—and climber. He appreciates the incredible fit and suspension provided by the Harmony System's elevated vacuum. He's also come to rely on the improved volume control the system offers since it helps him maintain his fluid—and literal—balance.

But if you ask Jared why he really likes the system, he'll simply tell you that gravity sucks—and fortunately for him, so does the Harmony System.
